Quantum Biofeedback

the state of the art in stress reduction

Stress is responsible for 94% of disease according to the Center for Disease Control. Stress can be physical, emotional, mental and caused by internal and external environmental factors

A Quantum Biofeedback session is a non-invasive, holistic modality based on principles of bioenergetics, voltametrics, homeopathy and quantum physics that enables the vital body to access the original blue print of health. Over time, chronic stress patterns cause aberrations in cell function. The biofeedback loop gently retrains the cellular function by 'reminding' it of it's natural homeostasis

The result is a natural feeling of well-being that allows the body to function optimally, creating balance, alignment and restoring healthy cell function
